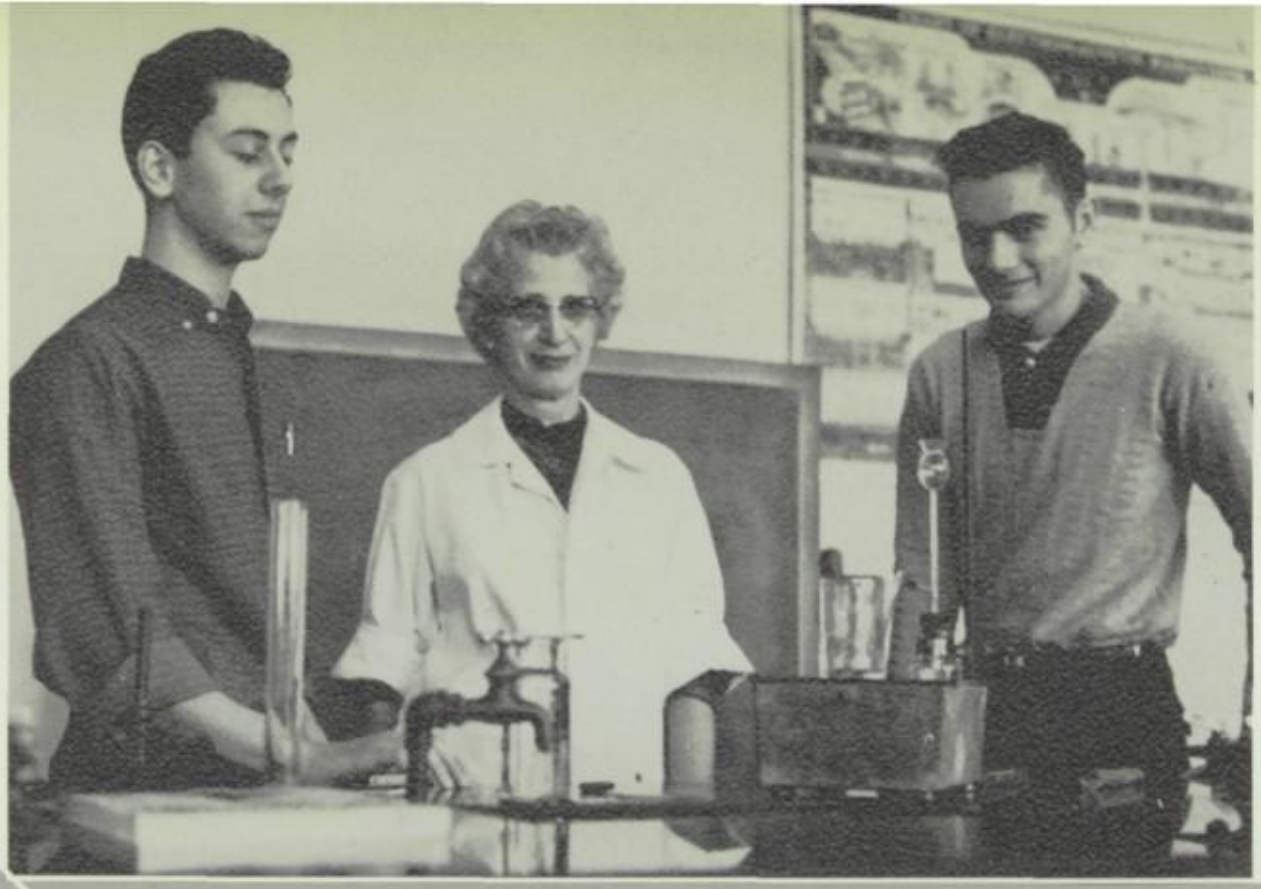
Mrs. Sarah Byers



DEDICATION

We, the twenty-second graduating class of Penn Joint High School, refer back to our years of challenges and decisions. In the future years, we shall encounter more challenges in this modern world of ours, with its wonder drugs, IBM machines, and missiles. Helping us immensely to prepare for meeting these endeavors was one prominent figure, Mrs. Sarah Byers.

For years she has instructed her chemistry students on the electromotive series and her "trig" students on the trigonometric functions. Little did they realize at the time that her emphasis on precision would be so valuable for work in their later years.

In addition to her classroom activities, she has untiringly helped the senior students to overcome their numerous trials and tribulations from purchasing lunch tickets and ordering caps and gowns and senior pictures to precise timing while marching down the aisle for commencement. Because of her past experience as senior class adviser, she has accomplished her duties, once more, successfully.

It is with sincere respect and gratitude that the members of the yearbook staff dedicate to Mrs. Sarah Byers the 1961 Penn Point—a small token of our appreciation and admiration.

ADMINISTRATION

Two decades have passed since the first Senior Class graduated from this high school. On November 12, 1960, it was my privilege as well as my pleasure to attend the first reunion of the Class of 1940 which was the first graduating class of this high school. This was very significant to me since a number of the graduates of the Class of 1940 and I had been in the same school buildings, without interruption, during the entire twelve years of their stay in the schools of Penn Township.

Just as the Class of 1940 had to face its responsibilities so must the Class of 1961 face the "Challenge of a Modern World." As I listened that night to the members of the class tell of their experiences and how they met the challenges confronted by them during the past two decades, my thoughts were centered on you, the members of the Class of 1961, and what each of you would say as to how you had met the "Challenge of a Modern World" when you meet for your class reunion in 1981.

As you leave this school in 1961, some of you will go into industry, some will marry, others will continue their formal education in college, business school, or nurses training. Some of you will find it difficult to reach the goal you have set because of conditions beyond your control, but remember, the world is looking for people who are willing to make the sacrifices, take the time, and put forth the effort necessary to meet the changing conditions of the modern world. We are living in a world that continually challenges those who attempt to climb the ladder of success. The business, industrial, and social world is looking for people who are adequately prepared and are willing to put forth the effort and time required to meet new challenges.

As you leave this school, how far will you climb the ladder of success? Will you do only what is demanded of you or will you put forth that extra effort needed to meet the challenge as it changes with the times! The challenge is yours, are you ready to receive it?

Congratulations on completing your public school career. May you have success in your future endeavors.

Charles R. Hostetler
Supervising Principal

"There's a glorious future for all of us, if we only go after it." These words were written by a woman who recovered after years of suffering from a crippling disease and went on to earn herself a career as a musician and a homemaker. The philosophy of this lady could serve as a guidepost for each of you as you venture into the adult world. You have the background of a good basic education behind you, now it is for you to "go after the glorious future" that can be yours.

Congratulations on the achievements which have brought each of you to this point in your life and best wishes for continued success as you face the years ahead.

THE CHALLENGE OF A MODERN WORLD

To the Class of 1961:

It is difficult to presume what might be in the minds of young people who ascribe so lofty a theme as "The Challenge of a Modern World" to their yearbook in 1961.

This is particularly so when almost within the scope of your high school career you have lived in what has been aptly phrased as a "turbulent age,"—a period characterized by the meteoric leap into the jet, missile, and television age, satellite launchings, nuclear explosions, world revolution, and racial turmoil; of unprecedented prosperity, hi-fi and rock 'n' roll, of split-level ranch homes and superhighways, teen-age gangs and tranquilizers; of sit-ins, missile gap, polio vaccine, space men, and the 50-star flag.

In view of this tremendous scientific, technological, and social upheaval, you might well ask, "What is there left to challenge?"

If it is true that people have dreamed of peace from the time they first waged war, then it follows that the greatest challenge to you and our times is the challenge to establish peace. Without its being attained, along with physical survival, all else becomes meaningless.

If it is necessary that over one-half the Federal budget be assigned to maintain the balance of power as a prerequisite for peace, we must accept the fact. But we must push beyond to the point of meeting the needs of our mushrooming population for schools, hospitals, recreational, and other public facilities; of playing a dominant role in promoting the progress of undeveloped nations of the world; and of maintaining a standard of living that would convince the world of the real quality of our people.

To help meet this challenge of peace you will have to approach it with a positive attachment of love for your country and the freedom and liberty that it symbolizes; develop in yourself a deeper sense of world community; train yourself with a dedication that will enable you to utilize every potential you possess to meet the real issues of the day; and buttress all this with a moral strength that will not be compromised.

PRESENTING THE STORY OF THE CLASS OF '61

It started back in September, 1955, when we entered Penn Joint Junior High. As seventh graders we took an active part in affairs by participating in the annual Magazine Campaign. How privileged we felt in eighth grade when we were assigned to homerooms in the high school building. Our picnic at Bushy Run proved to be exciting. In that same year we selected Judy Irwin, Larry Whatule, and Joe Kish to receive the American Legion Awards. Upon becoming "frosh," we helped to establish a new function of our school—the Student Council. How about the girls-vs.-women faculty basketball game? Our girls went down in defeat, but they had fun! An event not to be forgotten is the sophomore class party. How surprised we were to see that some of our football players possessed a hidden talent for pantomiming. (Remember "I've Had It"?) It was a memorable day in biology class when we dissected the frog. With many new challenges to face in our junior year, we elected Buzzy Joyce as our president to guide us. With the help of Mr. Rizzardi, we met our challenge of planning for and providing the funds for the Junior-Senior Prom. By operating the refreshment stand at the football games, we financed the gala event. The gym was beautifully decorated in orchid and white. A touch of palm branches helped carry out the theme, "Aloha." The day finally arrived when we became SENIORS! ! ! Not one of us will ever forget the thrill and excitement of the football game with Jeannette when we defeated them 6-0. Again Buzzy Joyce was our choice for class president. Our senior year was one filled with many activities: ordering pictures, passing out name cards, getting measured for caps and gowns, practicing for commencement, and most important of all, preparing for THE CHALLENGE OF A MODERN WORLD. Senior Day came all too soon. When we walked up the aisle and left the auditorium, we left behind us many memories of our days at P.J.H.S. which will remain with us forever.

The juniors helped to finance the prom this year in a different way. The girls played a benefit game with the women faculty members. The girls made their appearance dressed as basketball players right down to the oversized gym shoes. Then the teachers made their grand entrance on a variety of "modern" modes of transportation. Our girls went down to defeat, but they played a valiant game and had fun, too.

In biology class the sophomores found they could have fun while learning. This was especially apparent the day they dissected the frog. A steady hand and keen observation paid off. They learned that the frog's heart is complex and also similar to the human heart. The tenth grade, with the help of Mr. Onder, realized that challenges can be made pleasurable.

JUNIOR-SENIOR PROM

"Aloha!" What an exciting name for a prom. When each couple arrived and looked around the gymnasium, they found it almost unrecognizable under all that orchid, violet, and white crepe paper. Many hours were spent adorning the room with palm trees and elaborately decorated tables. The air was filled with delicate perfumes, strains of soft music, and excitement. As the evening wore on and the couples left, the faint allure of Hawaii beckoned each of us to return again.

CHRISTMAS BALL

The Christmas Ball, sponsored by the Varsity P, added to the spirit of the festive holiday. The gym was converted from a room for physical education classes to a gayly decorated ballroom. To set the scene, a beautifully ornamented evergreen tree, appropriate to the season, stood in the center of the floor. Happy couples, dancing to the music of Dick Greene, put the finishing touches to this "wonderland by night."

HOWIE

"The best senior class play ever!" This is an example of the comments that followed the presentation of 'Howie,' a three-act comedy, capably directed by Mrs. Phyllis Peer and student directed by Joan Sokolowski. Howie, played by Mike Cicci, always seemed to make things happen when he was around. The things that happened were directed at his tolerant in-laws, Kathy Terkel and Ken Cham. Donna Klebingot, Howie's adoring wife, could never understand why her parents wished the young couple would move into a home of their own. Sally Simms, Karen Seibel, was the one most affected by Howie's unintentional obnoxiousness. Every time she brought home her boyfriend, Bob Harden, Howie managed, to ruin everything. Finally, Howie was accepted as a contestant on a quiz show. There, too, he upset all the quiz show people, Larry Whatule, Sandy Taylor, Dennis Lawther, and Jim Butler. Mr. McNish from the FBI, portrayed by Joe Kish, solved the problem by giving Howie a job with the Civil Service. Other members of the fine cast included Gwen MacCurdy, Jim Varacalli, Tony Devroude, Steve Swencki, and Sharon Matthews.

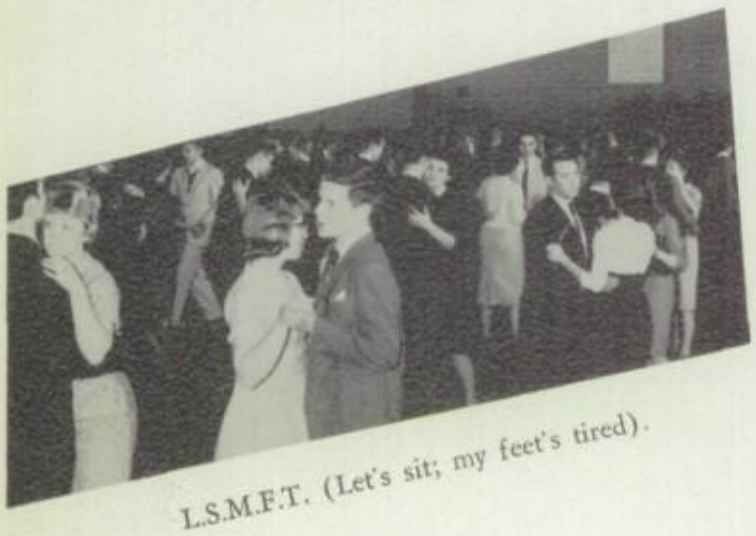
DRESS-UP DAY

Go, Terry, go!



L.S.M.F.T. (Let's sit; my feet's tired).

November 23, 1960, was the date for the first Dress-Up Day held at our school. It was brought about through the efforts of the Student Council.

We are glad to say that it proved to be a big success. The boys were very courteous that day. The girls were really surprised.

The boys were dressed in suits or sport jackets. The girls wore their better dresses and heels.

Although many thought there would be some minor accidents caused by the heels, we are happy to report that there were none.

Our school took on a whole new look that day. Conduct of the entire student body as a whole was excellent. The teachers surely appreciated this.

Since Dress-Up Day was such a big success this first time, there will be more in the future.

Who forgot to dress . . . up?

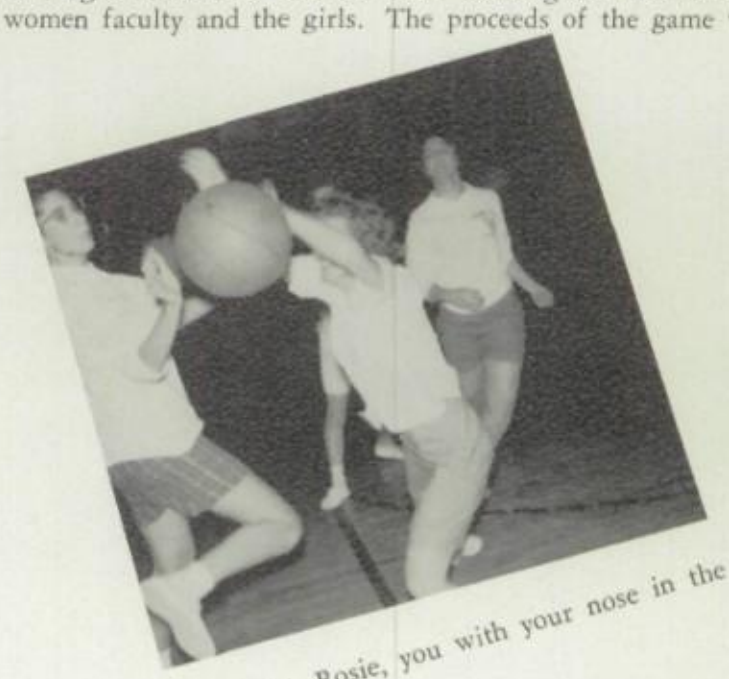
STUDENT-FACULTY GAME

Hold that ball, Rosie.

On November 16, the juniors sponsored a basketball game between the women faculty and the junior and senior girls. This game has come to be something the girls look forward to as their own particular activity for the school. The girls wanted to win the game very much for it was the last game for many of them. They were dressed in bermuda shorts, white blouses, boys' gym shoes, and basketball shirts.

The teachers made their entrance on the court wrapped in bandages and riding tricycles, bicycles, scooters, and wagons. They wore bermuda shorts, tennis shoes, and colored blouses.

Many spectators will agree that this was the most exciting and hilarious game ever put on by the women faculty and the girls. The proceeds of the game went to the prom fund.



Hey there, Rosie, you with your nose in the air!

Close, but no cigar!

MAGAZINE CAMPAIGN

The Magazine Campaign, an annual event in our high school, is looked forward to each year by many of our students. This year, as in the past five years, the campaign was in the capable hands of Hazel McIntire, who also supervised the Blue Team. The Blue Team included grades seven, nine, and eleven with Mona Parson as captain. The Red Team, which was under the supervision of Mr. Perich, included grades eight, ten, and twelve with Patricia Crowell as captain. David Baird was the student campaign manager. Other faculty members who assisted Miss McIntire were Miss Stump, Mrs. Horrell, Mrs. Ralph, Mr. King, and Mrs. Molinero.

The two high salesmen, David Baird and John Yuris, each received $2.50 and a trophy. The third and fourth place salesmen, Diana Galuska and Jack Battenhouse, each received a stuffed animal.

The Magazine Campaign has been in existence since 1939. At that time the grand total was $233.50; this year it was $4,393.08. The highest goal ever reached was $5,786.89 in 1957. The profit in 1939 was used to purchase a grand piano which is now in the auditorium. Some other items which were purchased due to the efforts and cooperation of the students and faculty during the previous campaigns are the electric movie screen and the movie projector in the auditorium, the bleachers, the lights and the electric scoreboard on the athletic field, stage curtains, library books, stage equipment, and many other useful items which are now seen around the school. The Magazine Campaign has been a huge success throughout the years.

SERVICE EDUCATION PROGRESS

FBLA FUTURE BUSINESS LEADERS AMERICA ©

The FBLA, a national organization for business students, was formed in Penn Joint only a year ago. Since then, it has come to be a well-organized and respected group. The purpose of the club is to prepare students for placement in the business world. The first major undertaking of the newly organized chapter was the publication of the TOMAHAWK, the monthly newspaper. Attending the regional convention at Munhall and participating in the contests proved to be an interesting and pleasant experience. The entire membership enjoyed a trip to Pittsburgh and a spring banquet.

This year the FBLA has accomplished a few new projects; namely, doing secretarial work for the teachers and sponsoring a dance and bake sale. The FBLA again took part in contests at the conventions. The final activity of the year was a banquet.

HEAR NO EVIL

SEE NO EVIL

SPEAK NO EVIL

In today's challenging world, the old axiom, "Hear no evil, see no evil, speak no evil," can no longer be followed by Americans. This is a crucial time of challenge and crisis. We Americans cannot sit back and watch history being made around us. We must make the history! With talk of inflation, missiles, space, unemployment, rockets, medical aid, and disarmament, we must not waste our most valuable of resources, our youth. In order that our youth may solve the problems of today and live in peace and prosperity, they must receive the best education that it is possible to give them. "Hear no evil." Evil must be heard and then crushed by wisdom and knowledge learned in today's modern educational institutions. Then evil may be seen and eliminated by new methods taught to and conceived by today's students. And evil will be spoken of in classrooms. From the classroom come new solutions to the evil in the world. Educating the youth of today should be uppermost in our minds for whomever has the better education will eventually run the government of our country. The youth of today will meet the challenge of today's modern world for they are better equipped to handle problems than anyone ever before.

Languages for all

Today, in a time of turmoil, there is much need for understanding our foreign friends. Language cannot, and must not, be a barrier between us and our neighbors of other parts of the world. We find that understanding other people's ideas and customs is of great help in dealing with them. The first step in this process is learning their language. At the present, our school offers the classic Latin, two romance languages, French and Spanish, a recent addition to the language department, German, and, of course, English.

Academic Subjects

The Academic, or College Preparatory, Course is intended to prepare the student for higher learning. Emphasis is placed on science and math, the basic fundamentals in the Space Age. Doctors, nurses, lawyers, educators, astronomers, mathematicians, and technologists are just a few of the professions that stem from the academic group. Such careers as these are achieved with the help of this course, which is geared for the college-bound student.

Commercial Subjects produce

The Commercial Course endeavors to prepare the students for the many challenges of the business world. Only the best qualified students are apt to be accepted by business executives in this modern world of today with its everchanging horizons.

Industrial Arts Teaches Applicable Skills and Techniques

SHOP

If you were sent to the shop to get a hammer for some repair job around school, you would walk into a world of pounding, sawing, and buzzing; of nails, wood shavings, and saw dust. Skillful hands, a watchful eye, and good instruction help the boys in shop class to make their projects in which they can take pride. The shop course helps boys to be able to do practical jobs around the house.

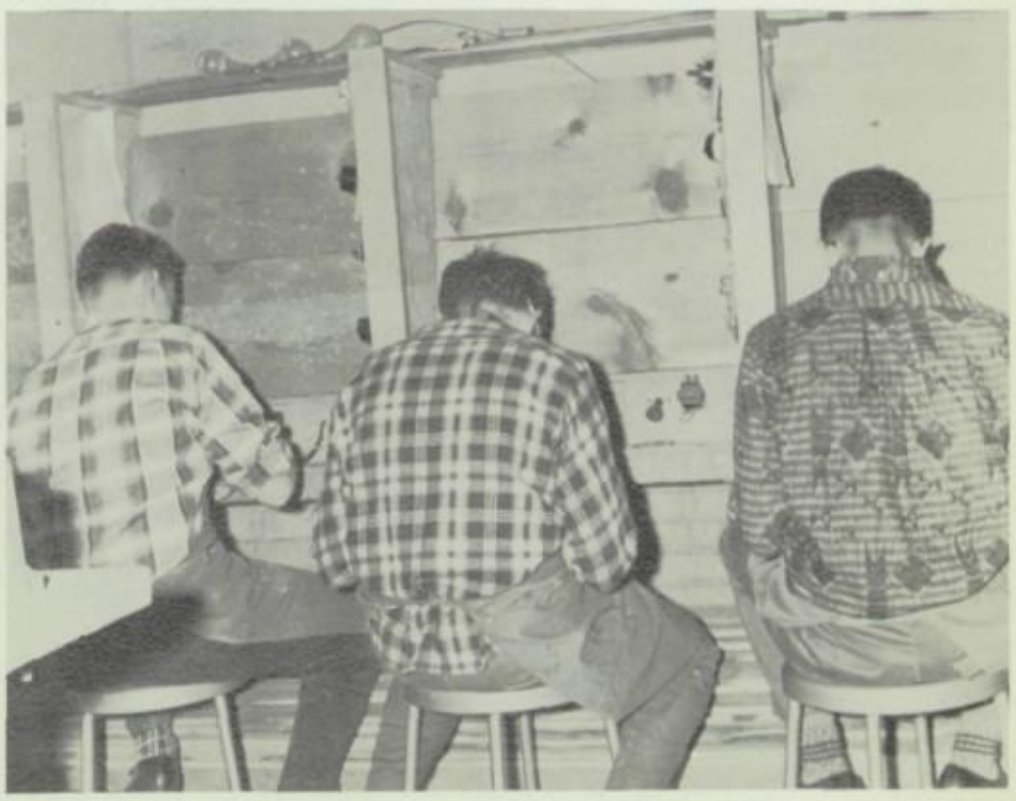
All right, boys, apply what you've learned; and for heaven's sake, don't blow a fuse!

Mr. Hebrank offers a suggestion to this mechanical drawing student.



MECHANICAL DRAWING

To the student who is planning a career in any phase of drafting, this course, under the direction of Mr. Kenneth Hebrank, is a definite must. To meet the ever-changing face of the modern world, we find ourselves in constant need of more skilled draftsmen, designers, and architects. This course is designed to teach the basic fundamentals of mechanical drawing and to prepare the student for more advanced college courses. The mechanical drawing course is divided into two parts, first and second year. In first year mechanical drawing, one learns to draw the fundamentals of construction. The second year is concerned with structural design and architectural drawings.

HOME ECONOMICS

Home economics is the domestic science of making and caring for the home. Teachers of this course strive to impress upon their pupils the importance of understanding and dexterity in establishing their own homes in the future. Emphasis is placed on the many techniques of cooking and sewing.

Farming methods have come a long way since the day of the horse-drawn plow. Modern machinery is ever making the farmer's job a less strenuous one. Those boys taking the agriculture course learn to set up and repair various types of farm machinery.

Special Classes Round Out

GEOGRAPHY

This year a new course was added to the already wide choice of electives—geography. The student attends lectures and takes an active part in the presentation of material. Demonstrations, like this one of an African irrigation system, are frequent in this lively classroom. Dull statistics come alive when reports and charts are presented before the students. As a pleasant diversion, the classes went on a trip to Buhl Planetarium to see a geography exhibit and a sky show.

DRIVER'S EDUCATION

The objectives of driver's education are to develop good sportsmanship, habits, and attitudes on the part of the driver. A student receives 30 clock hours of classroom instruction. Then he receives six hours of practice driving and twenty hours of observation time in the driver's education car. Only a limited number of students may be scheduled in the course; therefore, preference is given in order of class seniority. One of the requirements that must be fulfilled in the course is an eye examination, and Mr. Cortazzo administers a preliminary testing.

JOURNALISM

The Journalism course is designed to give the student a better appreciation of the place and function of the newspaper in modern life and to supply certain standards by which to measure journalistic excellencies and faults. One important phase stresses the ability to read a newspaper intelligently; to recognize and evaluate propaganda as such; to help each student to become an exacting reader; and eventually to demand and support the better newspaper. In this class one learns theory and puts it into action by writing articles for the local newspaper. The articles are then cut from the newspaper and pasted into a scrapbook for posterity.

a Fine Curricular Program

SPECIAL ARTS

The purpose of special arts is to further interest and understanding of art in our lives, to learn to appreciate art, and to train for a vocation in art. The students study the five elements of good design —line, form, space, texture, and color. New ideas are always welcome. Some of these new aspects are: clay projects, woodcrafts, pictures made with feathers, and ceramics. A trip to the Pittsburgh Art Gallery is an annual event which is looked forward to by all special arts students.

SPECIAL SPEECH CLASS

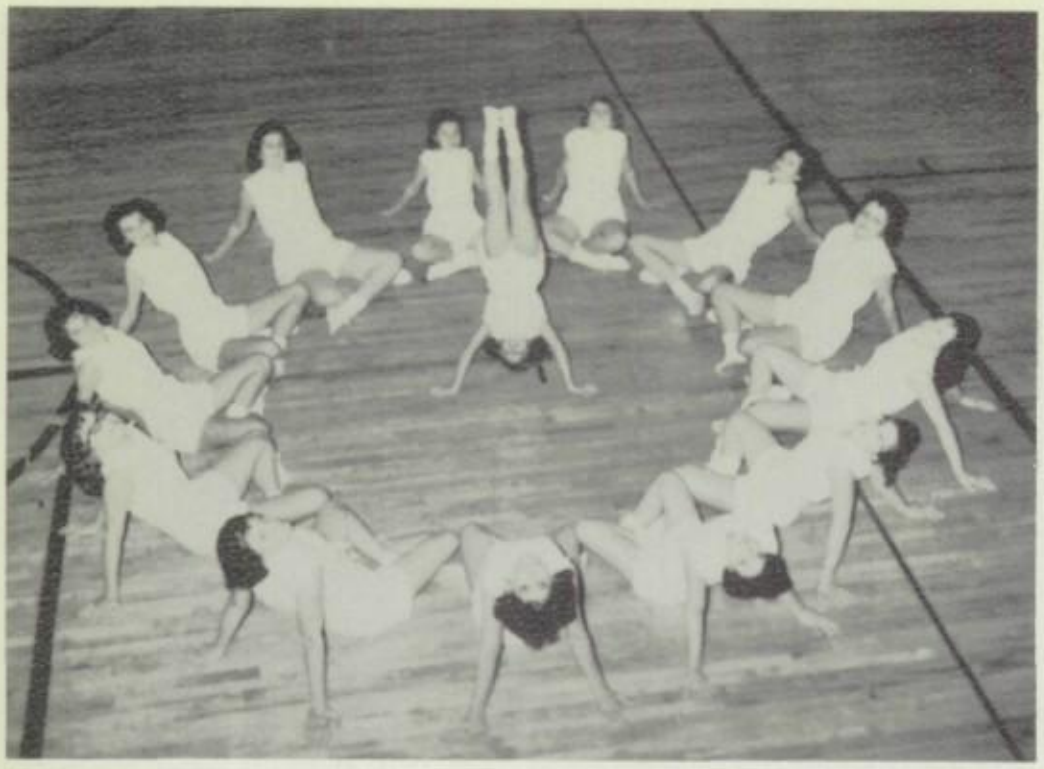
Every Tuesday Mr. Fried comes to the high school to assist boys and girls who have difficulty in making certain sounds when speaking. Some speech defects are impossible to overcome completely, but through constant reading practices and exercising the tongue, students may and usually do improve their voices. Mr. Fried's assistance has proven beneficial in many cases. Through him students who suffer with impairments of speech have gained a better knowledge and understanding of their problems and are better able to improve upon it.

SPEECH AND DRAMATICS

Dramatics and speech are integral parts of the education at P.J.H.S. Dramatic courses teach a student the arts of applying make-up, play selection, casting, rehearsing, lighting, stagecraft, costuming, publicity, facial and body movements, voice control, and prompting. The art of applying make-up as demonstrated in the picture is a very important aspect in a good dramatics course. Each year students select a scene from a play, cast, direct, and act in it so that they might gain practical experience in acting.

Speech, too, involves a great deal of tedious but rewarding work. Selling speeches, informative speeches, demonstration speeches, and the fundamentals of parlaimentary procedure are included in this instructive class. Under the direction of Mrs. Phyllis Peer, the students enjoy an informal, but enlightening class.

Health and Physical Education Classes



Conditioned muscles and expert guidance from the physical education instructors produce this gymnastic feat of perfection.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Physical education is an important part of the modern program of general education. Its significance cannot be emphasized too much. This course teaches accepted rules of courtesy and sportsmanship, an appreciation of outdoor life, and the cultivation of life-long recreational interests. In addition, physical education gives the student experience in living as a member of a group, as well as an individual.

HEALTH

Scientific research in recent years has so increased medical knowledge that today everyone enjoys health benefits unheard of in previous generations. The health course has a double task: It assists the student in gaining an intelligent understanding of the human body and mind in order to maintain good health; and at the same time, it couples the student's knowledge with a desire to achieve the highest degree of physical and mental fitness. While infectious disease is being brought under control, mental illness and emotional disturbance continue to increase in this complex Space Age. Heart disease has become the leading cause of death today; cancer has become our second most dangerous killer. The number of instances of disease can be reduced, to a great extent, by the simple measure of learning to live properly. These are only a few of the challenges modern health education faces today.

Our Student Council Initiated Many New Ideas

This was a typical scene at PJHS on "Tag Day." Marty looks as though he isn't too happy with the whole idea.

This year our Student Council again served the student body well by initiating ideas for the students' enjoyment. A new idea was started and carried out—the handbook for each student. Council representatives spent many hours gathering, writing, and organizing material for the handbook. "Tag Day," "Dress Up Day," and the open meeting proved to be not only successful but also enjoyable. Another accomplishment of the council was the installation of chocolate milk in the milk machine. Judy Irwin, President; Bonita Beltz, Vice-President; Lorraine Dunny, Secretary; and Angelo Meneghini, Treasurer carried the Student Council through its fourth successful year.

Every member of the student body was invited to attend an open meeting of the Student Council. The students were free to participate by voicing opinions on important matters.

"The Pennant" Donned a New Look

NEWSPAPER

THE PENNANT, a newly established project in Penn Joint, was first published in 1959 by the FBLA. Since the first issue was published and distributed, THE PENNANT, has come a long way.

A capable staff was chosen by Mr. Korey, the new sponsor, to build the newspaper into what it is presently. It now has a new look, due to the fact that it is printed by a printing company; for it was formerly done on a mimeograph machine. Pictures are another new addition to the paper.

Janice Semega, typing editor, proofreads the copy as Donna Berlin types.

Everyone seems to be pleased with their new assignments.

Today THE PENNANT is a part of Penn Joint High School. Its sponsor and staff have worked diligently and co-operatively to make the newspaper a worth while and interesting project—one enjoyed by both student body and faculty.

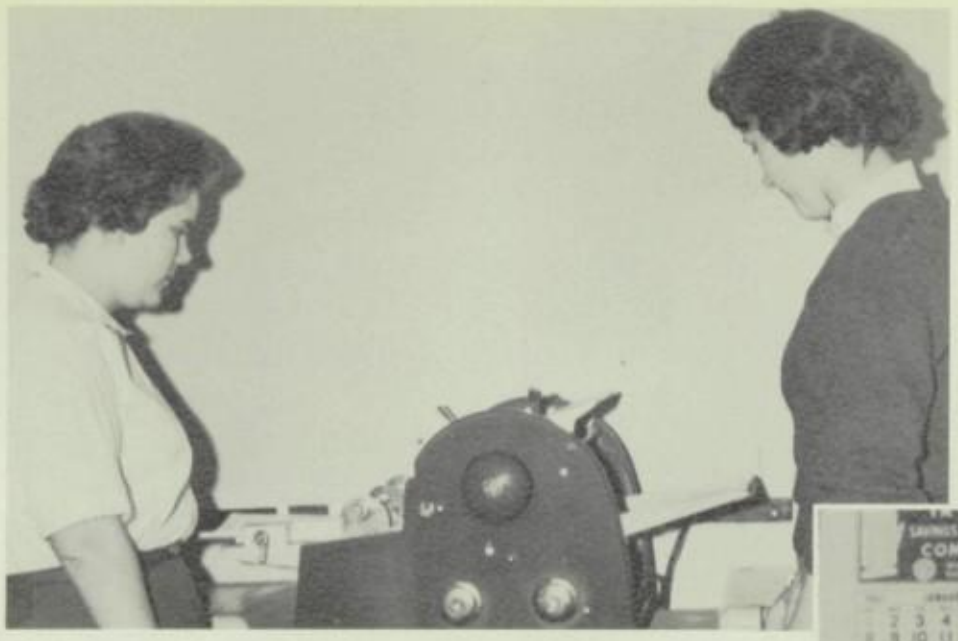
LIBRARIANS

The Librarians are interested in obtaining more knowledge in many subjects. They do not meet on club days, but they do have occasional meetings throughout the school year. The members volunteer their services, although there is a certain requirement that must be upheld at all times. The students must have substantial marks in their subjects before they are permitted to give up their study halls. Students get acquainted with the library procedures by doing varied jobs throughout the library. Later, they assume the responsibility of managing the desk. The students profit greatly from their experience in performing their library tasks. They acquire fundamental methods of working out problems for themselves.

Mrs. Nock, Mr. Corl, and library assistants are busily doing their tasks as Lou Ader decides to take out a book.

"This assignment calls for material from the magazine file," says Joan Sokolowski to Patty Smith.

Girls Friday Gain Efficiency in Office Practice



Absentee sheets must be run off on the mimeograph machine and sent around to the homerooms.

GIRL FRIDAY

This group of ambitious girls has been invaluable to Mr. King and Mr. Rometo in the attendance office. Doing such things as typing, filing, collecting and checking attendance reports, and picking up and delivering messages is a lot of work; but the girls seem to enjoy it. Morning and afternoon, these girls are constantly on the go. It isn't a matter of all work and no play, however, for the girls do have various get-togethers now and then.

An efficient office cannot exist without an orderly filing system.

STAGE CREW

The Stage Crew is an invaluable organization at PJHS. To become a member, a boy must have some mechanical and electrical ability. The Stage Crew assists at various school functions including assemblies, lyceums, and plays. They make the settings for plays, move furniture, adjust microphones, and even calm the jangled nerves of those persons in the assemblies. Under the expert guidance of Mr. Morgan Egidi, the Stage Crew has done a marvelous job.

FIRE PATROL

The Fire Patrol, one of the oldest organizations in the high school, has a reputation of being reliable and constantly on the alert. The group, under the supervision of Mr. John Kelly, is responsible for seeing that the school is evacuated quickly, and that the fire extinguishers and water hoses are manned during a fire drill.

The boys chosen for the club are usually athletes who have earned a letter in football, basketball, or golf. The Fire Patrol is responsible for seeing that every room has instructions on how to evacuate the building. They also serve on the school's Civil Defense program.

Projectionists, and Ushers

PROJECTIONISTS

For those boys interested in operating the visual aids equipment in the high school, this club is very important. The Projectionists learn to operate tape recorders, the various makes of projectors, still film machines, record players, and opaque projector. After mastering these machines, the boys assist those teachers who wish to use them and also keep the machines in good working condition. As the operation of these machines is difficult, it is no job for a novice. Under the direction of Mr. Paul King, the boys become quite skilled in running the vital equipment.

USHERS

The Ushers Club is one of those indispensable organizations around our school. Ushers are on duty for plays, Parents Night, Baccalaureate, and Commencement, seeing that people are seated comfortably. The club is under the capable direction of Mr. Paul King. Ushers work hard to make people comfortable, but always manage to have fun.

Each fall our majorettes toil arduously toward improving their routines for football season. During this school year, under the expert supervision of Mrs. Florence Humes, the activities of the busy majorettes included halftime entertainment at football games, marching for the spring concert, and participating in the highly successful pep meetings. Helping to decorate for the Christmas Ball was a diversion from their work that proved to be fun.

Under the direction of Mrs. Florence Humes, the cheerleaders proved that all their work had not been in vain. Holding pep rallies, painting and displaying posters, and holding dances, the cheerleaders were backing the teams and leading the Indian fans.

In December Junior Varsity Cheerleaders were picked by impartial judges. These girls showed skill and determination in leading cheers and boosting school spirit. Junior Varsity Cheerleaders were full of pep and always ready to go.

FOOTBALL . . .

During the latter part of summer, the Penn Joint Indians began practice for the 1960 football season under head coach Regis Kelly. With the return of 14 lettermen the Indians optimistically looked forward to this season, which proved to be a challenging and rewarding one for all concerned.

After having failed to beat or tie Jeannette in 12 tries, the Indians entered the Jayhawk field on September 9 with the idea that it was their turn to win one. They had shown more confidence than ever before and it proved worth while.

Jeannette had the edge in first downs and rushing yardage, but the Jays weren't able to penetrate the hard-fighting Indian line at the times when they were close to scoring. The Jays looked to be headed for a touchdown in the first quarter, but the Indians soon took over on downs and ended the threat. Neither club was close to scoring in the second period. Most of the action took place around midfield during the third period. Starting from the JHS 42, the Indians moved on nine plays to the JHS 5 where Bill Barosh took a handoff from Buzzy Joyce and hit off his own left guard for the touchdown. He tried to plunge for the extra point but was stopped. Barosh was the standout for the Indians as he carried the ball 98 out of 145 yeards.

After Penn had kicked off following this score, the Jays put on their best offensive play of the night, but finally had to give in to the Indians as time ran out. The final score was 6-0 in favor of the Indians. Despite the rain and damp weather, many fans turned out to see the game, which was one of the most exciting of the season.

After the postponement of the home game against Scottdale, the Indians traveled to Bellmar on September 22 only to suffer their first loss. Although the Indians played a hard game, they were unable to take over the ball. At the end of the first half, the score was 7-0 in favor of the Hurricanes. Bellmar then scored two more touchdowns bringing the score to 20-0.

Right after the ensuing kickoff, Angelo Meneghini passed to Buzzy Joyce for the Indian score on a play which covered 74 yards. Joyce passed to Rich Holmes for the extra point. The score at the end of the game was 20 for Bellmar and 7 for Penn.

St. Vincent Prep was to be the next contender for the Blue and White. This game was played at home on October 1. The Indians scored in the first three periods and then coasted to victory against their opponent. Pat Kelly scored the first touchdown by intercepting a pass, driving to the seven, and then going from there to score. Buzzy Joyce scored the second touchdown from the six yard line giving the Indians a 12-0 lead.

St. Vincent's only touchdown was scored in the last 22 seconds of the first half. At halftime the score was 12-7, Penn.

The Indians scored for the third time when Joyce passed to Rich Holmes for 57 yards. Two more points were added to Penn's score when a Prepster was tackled in the end zone for a safety. Bill Barosh set up the last scoring when he gained 24 yards in two tries to the five yard line. The closing touchdown was scored by Kelly. The final score of 27-6 gave Penn their second victory.

On October 7, Penn traveled to Ligonier where they scalped the Mounties 13-6. Not much action was seen in the first quarter, however, the Indians came back in the second period to score twice. The first touchdown was made on a 41-yard pass reception by Bill Sullivan which gave the Indians a lead of seven points. Bill Barosh scored the second touchdown on a 20-yard sprint also in the second quarter. Ligonier's only touchdown occurred after grabbing a blocked punt and running for the goal. The smiling faces of the players as they arrived home showed they had conquered another opponent.

The postponed game with Scottdale was played on October 10, on the Indians' field. As in previous games, the Indians again drew a large crowd.

The Scotties scored first in the opening quarter, but Penn came back in the same quarter with a 60-yard run. Bill Barosh drove over from two yards away. Barosh plunged for the point and the Indians led with a score of 7-6. Neither team scored during the second period.

Russ Thomas ran the second-half kickoff back 88 yards to score the touchdown which put the Indians ahead. Even though Barosh failed on a run for the point, the Indians still led 13-6. The Scotties ran 68 yards in the third period for their final touchdown. The extra point tied the score 13-13.

In the last quarter, after a drive of 35 yards, Angelo Meneghini sneaked over from a yard away for the winning touchdown. Meneghini passed to Rich Holmes for the extra point. The Indians boasted another victory with the final score being 20-13. This was the fourth victory in five games for the Indians, who were well on their way to a winning season.

Sewickley, a hard team to beat, traveled to Penn Joint for the game on October 15. The Bisons started out by recovering a Penn fumble and running 55 yards for the first touchdown. A pair of touchdowns was scored by the opponents in the second quarter bringing the score up to 18-0. The two final touchdowns were scored in the last half of the game, but only one extra point was scored. The Bisons went home with a victory of 31-0.

During this game the Indians were hit hard by injuries. Regular fullback and valuable player for the Indians, Bill Barosh, received a shoulder separation which put him out of action for the remainder of the season. Rich Holmes, a hard-hitting end, also missed some action due to a cut knee.

An away game against Wilmerding on October 21, resulted in the fifth victory for the Indian squad. The first scoring, which was made by Wilmerding, gave them a lead of 7-0. When a Wilmerding punt was partially blocked, fullback, Harry Snyder caught the ball on the Wilmerding 25-yard line. He ran the ball to the one-yard line where the home team was penalized half the distance. Snyder plunged across from there. A pass from Angelo Meneghini to Rich Holmes clicked for the point to tie the contest 7-7.

Another pass from Meneghini to Holmes accounted for the winning touchdown on a play which covered 55 yards. A pass play failed for the extra point. Aside from one long scoring jaunt, Wilmerding failed to threaten the goal line. Thirteen to seven was the final score with Penn Joint as the winner.

The Indians played without the capable assistance of regulars, Bill Barosh and Pat Kelly. Russ Thomas was injured early in the Wilmerding game and missed most of the action.

The last home game was played against Ramsey on October 29. Due to the previous injuries, the Indians suffered their third loss of the season.

Ramsey scored in the second period when a Bobcat powered his way across from two yards out. A 45-yard pass play set up the touchdown. A pass interception gave the Bobcats their chance for a second touchdown. The final score was 12-0 in favor of Ramsey.

Penn Joint's final game of the season, and the last one for 13 of the players, was played at Rostraver on November 3. This was the final game for both teams.

The Indians struck first in the opening period when Buzzy Joyce raced 50 yards to the Rostraver 15 on a third and eleven situation. Three plays later Joyce ran eight yards for the touchdown. He then passed to Rich Holmes for the extra point to make the score 7-0 in favor of Penn Joint.

Late in the same period the Leopards evened the score with a touchdown and extra point. Rostraver halted a second quarter Penn drive on the home 16, marched to the Penn 20, but lost the ball on downs. The score at halftime was tied at 7-7.

The Leopards took the second half kickoff and rolled 63 yards in seven plays to score their second touchdown. Rostraver's run for the extra point was stopped and the score was then 13-7.

The Indians, not being able to advance, missed a chance to score when they recovered a Rostraver fumble on the enemy 26. Another chance came when the ball was fumbled on Rostraver's 17 with Penn recovering. This time the Indians moved to the eight-yard line but missed a first down by a foot and had to give up the ball.

In the final period Rostraver scored again on a Penn fumble, making the score 20-7. The second Penn touchdown came on what would have been the game's final play if it hadn't resulted in a score. Angelo Meneghini passed 18 yards to Rich Holmes for the touchdown, and time was granted for the conversion try. Bill Sullivan kicked, but the ball hit the crossbar and bounced back to make the final score 20-13.

The 1960 football season was a very exciting one for the Indians and their numerous fans. The long hours of practice, the top-notch coaching, the team-work, the support of the fans, and the self-confidence of the players all played an important part in this year's winning season, the first since 1951.

The Blue and White will lose thirteen regular squad members who are graduating. With new players taking their places on the lineup, the graduating players know that the 1961 squad will return prepared to meet their challengers. To them is wished the best of luck and success in meeting all future opponents.

As many spectators will agree, basketball is a very competitive sport. Co-ordinated teamwork must be displayed throughout the game or the results may be costly. The offense and defense are so quickly shifting from one team to the other that one must be attentive at all times.

The Penn Joint Indians, coached by Mr. Richard Rizzardi, had one of its off seasons this year. The Indians opened their exhibition schedule against Freedom on the Penn Joint High basketball court. It was a glorious victory for the Indians and their faithful rooters. The boys' confidence in themselves was soon disenlightened by Glassport. The following games proved to be quite a test for the Blue and White. The boys were unable to overpower their opponents and had to settle with a 1-8 record in the exhibition contest.

The first scheduled league game for the Indians was visiting Wilkinsburg. Unfortunately, the Penn Joint five were not able to defeat the "Tigers." The game ended with the score of 66-38. The next encounter for the Blue and White was Penn Hill. As in the preceding game, the Indians were forced to bow to their aggressors by a thirty point deficit. Although the team and the spectators anticipated their first victory of the season against Swissvale, in the closing minutes of the game the Indians were unable to decrease the nine point difference. The next two games proved to be nightmares, for the Penn Joint five lost to Braddock and Turtle Creek by the scores of 77-49 and 73-44. The following opponent of the Indians was Gateway. Again, the Penn Joint Indians lost by a heartbreaking score of 57-56.

All our opponents know the Indians displayed a brand of basketball which proved that they could not be taken lightly. Consequently, the Indians were not able to come through victoriously throughout the final league games of the season. We should all be proud of the fine sportsmanship our boys displayed. It may be that next year Penn Joint High School will have a basketball team that goes "all the way," for we are sure the boys have gained valuable experience.

Baseball is one of our major sports. This year the Indians started practice in late March. Coached by Mr. Regis Kelly, they played good baseball. They started out the season slowly, for the Indians went down to defeat against Gateway. The "never say die" spirit of Penn showed up; for they swamped Plum, Trafford, and Oakmont in the next three games. Four games elapsed before the Indians won again. They lost to Franklin, Plum, Oakmont, and Gateway. Winning over Trafford helped bolster spirits, but again they lost to Franklin, ending the season.

Coached by Mr. "Tar" Onder, the Penn Joint Linksmen finished the season a little below the 500 mark. They won four matches and went down to defeat six times. Competing in Section IV, they opened their season by hosting Hempfield. The Spartans defeated our boys 10½-5½. Barney Kistler was low medalist with a 76. The Linksmen then lost to Jeannette, 11½-4½. Kistler was again the low medalist for the Indians with a score of 77. Penn Joint took on section-champs, Latrobe, facing defeat again 14-2. Kistler was once again the low medalist for the Indians with a 77. Finally, the Indians picked up their first victory, beating Connellsville 9½-6½. Dave Baughman took low medalist honors with an 84. The Golden Lions of Greensburg then scalped the Indians 15½-1½. Kistler was low medalist again with a 75. Starting the second-half of the season, the Indians hoped they could do a little better. They started off poorly, losing to the Spartans 14-2. Barney Kistler, still playing very consistently, was low medalist with a 73. Taking on the second-place Jayhawks, the Indians won their second triumph. By this victory, 9-7, Jeannette was eliminated from the race for the title. Kistler was low medalist with a 73. Latrobe then beat the Indians again by the score of 14-2. Bob Gestler was low medalist with an 83. Convincingly, the Indians beat Connellsville 12-4. Kistler was low medalist with a 75. Upsetting Greensburg, 12½-3½, in the final match of the season, the Linksmen ended the season with a record of four wins and six losses. Coach Onder is looking forward optimistically to a winning season.

This is how it's done, Carl.

Now, you try it.

In these two pictures are the senior students who sold one hundred dollars or more worth of ads and those journalism students who also sold ads. Row 1: Hettie Painter, Marilyn Lang, Janet Susa, and Kathy Grace. Row 2: William Cinti, Patty Crowell, Cecelia Kish, and Margaret Gernhardt. Pictured below. Row 1: Judi Bordogna, Amelia Kushnar, JoAnn Yates, and Sharon Matthews. Row 2: Carrie Caroselli, Sharon Rees, Virginia Blake, and Tony Devroude.

Going to each homeroom for yearbook subscriptions everyday is the job of circulation managers, Marilyn Lang and Janet Susa. Keeping an accurate record of the number of yearbooks sold constitutes their greatest concern.

Judi Bordogna and Amelia Kushnar balance the books. These girls handle all the money for yearbook ads.

to Produce the 1961 PENN POINT

Judy Irwin and Rose Mary Kontetta, co-editors of our yearbook, inspect the finished product.

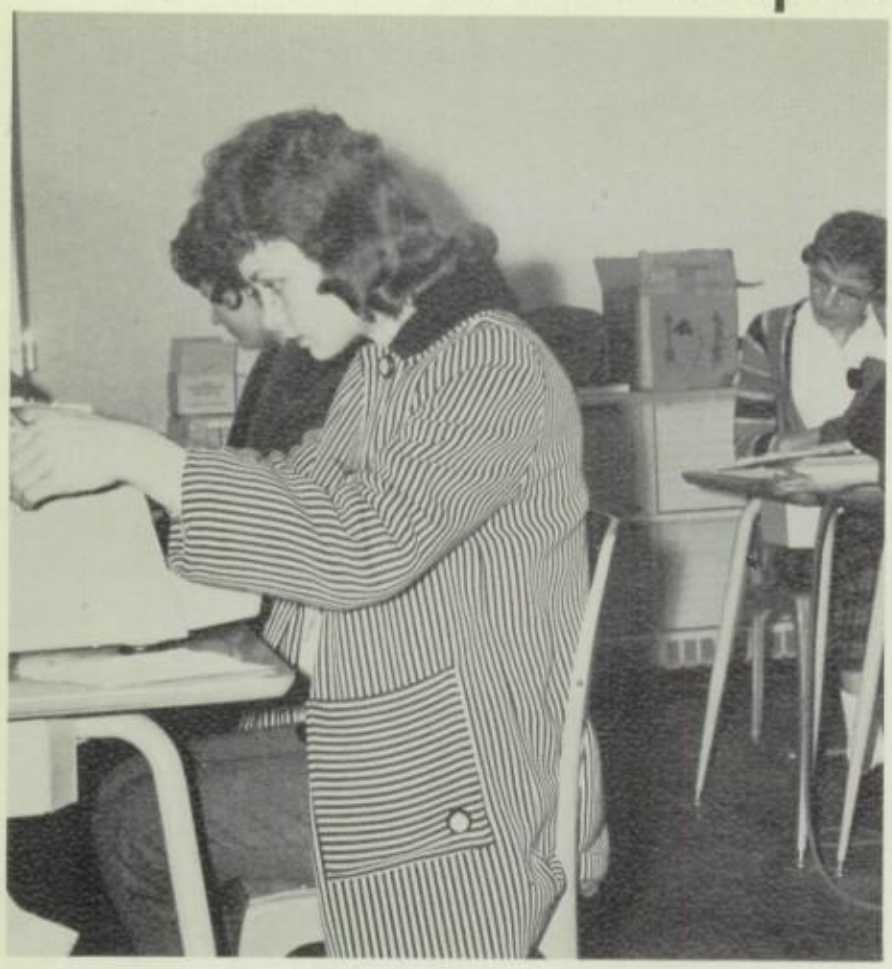
Our faithful adviser, Mr. Kenneth McCullough, sits back and relaxes after having taken "a whole bunch" of snaps. We, the Penn Point Staff, whole-heartedly thank him for his everlasting patience.

Meeting deadlines called for many conferences between our feature writers, Larry Whatule and Kathy Terkel.

Linda Kohl, Betty Jo Costellic, Johann Regina, and Patty Baginski worked very hard typing copy in order to meet our many deadlines.

Artists, Hettie Painter and Tony Devroude, spent countless hours creating special effects.

Which Depicts Life at PJHS.



The Yearbook Staff works overtime on a cold Saturday.

All hands on deck!

The hard-working staff pauses a few minutes to pose for a picture.

Who's the mysterious one in the white bandana?

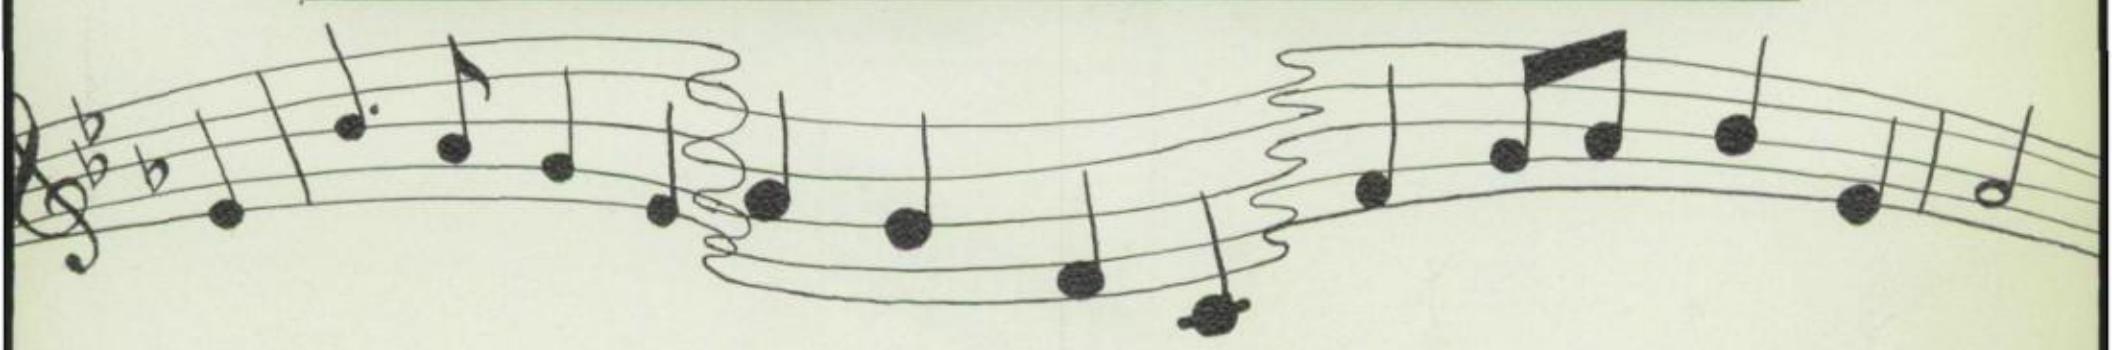
THE PENN POINT STAFF

Just take some efficient editors,
And typists who eat and laugh,
Add proofreaders and artists,
And you have "The Penn Point" Staff.

Then take a desk that's stacked up high
With books and papers and mail,
Mix in a few bags of potato chips,
And you have the whole sad tale.

We had our fun and lighter moments,
But take it from this knowing lass,
All we can say, on behalf of the staff,
Is, "We pity the Junior Class."

Loafing, as usual!



ALMA MATER

The fertile fields which give us life and great productive mines
Surround Penn Township High School with classic monumental lines;
Where new frontiers come into view, new human needs unfold,
The challenge of a modern world within our school we hold.
Of many great historic shrines are famous stories told,
Yet more esteemed than any seems yon Bushy Run which we behold;
No savage menace threatens us within our stately halls,
Yet we revere the courage which that battle oft recalls.
As stands yon great historic shrine, may we stand firm and tall;
With courage and a zeal to learn, with labor that shall conquer all;
And may our hearts where'er we roam for ever loyal be
To you—Penn Township High School which guides our destiny.
